A HARMONIOUS MEETING.

Result of the Republican Convention at Saratoga.

NO LOCAL OPTION FOR COUNTIES.

The Platform Demands the Enforcement of the Sunday Liquor Law and the Preservation of the Sabbath-No Enlargement of the State Committee.

SARATOSA, Sept. 18.-The state Republican convention closed its session last night after fallowing very closely the work mapped out by its leaders. It mained this ticket for presentation to the people of the State in November next: For secretary of state John Palmer of Albany: comptroller, James E. Roberts of Erie: state treasurer, Addison B. Colvin of Warren; state engineer, Campbell W. Adams of Oncida; attorney general, F. E. Hancock of Onondaga: judge of the court of appeals. Celora E. Martin of Broome.

The platform demands enforcement of the Sunday liquor law and preservation of the Sabbath. Governor Morton's wise and patriotic administration is also indors d, and his candidacy for president formally launched. The platform further sets forth that the demands of the people in the city of New York have been granted in reform legislation.

After the op ning session there appeared on the horizon a cloud of discorrent that grow so rapidly that at 3 o'clock the fate of the state officers seemed to be sealed against renomination. The trouble arose over the cont of for scats in the First distriet, and hinged on the scating of the contesting deligation headed by Congressman Mahaney.

With everything apparently running smoothly the leaders were suddenly confronted with the statement made by State Committeman George Urban, Jr., and Senator Persons that if the Mahaney delegation was scated the Eric county delegation would leave the convention and Mr. Roberts' name would be withdrawn from the convention, thus breaking the slate. When the convention met the committee reported against Mr. Mahaney. It was learned that the vote was 16 against and 15 for, the deciding vote having been east by Mr. Wheeler, of Utica. Thus was the catastrople averted.

The next nearest approach to a break in the plans came when Warner Miller introduced his resolution for the protection of the American Sabbath and the carrying out of the excise laws. The leaders who had proclaimed against any excise action accepted the situation, and the result was that all friction ceased.

Action on enlargement of the state committee was tabled and local Sunday option for counties was also killed.

Bank Closed and Officers Missing.

PERRY, O. T., Sept. 18 .- Much excitement prevails because of the failure of the First State bank of Perry to open business today. Attachments to the amount of $30,000 were run on the bank. The bank carries about $49,000 in deposits, and it is said that there is but $1,200 cash on hand. The liabilities are estimated at between $10,000 and $80,000, with assets nearly half that amount. None of the bank officers or clerks can be found.

RETAIL BIRD DEALERS.

Extensive Trade Carried on In New York · Almost Exclusively by Germans.

New York city's extensive trade in singing birds is carried on almost exclusively by Germans. Not only have they a virtual monepoly of this very profitable business, but, furthermore, a very large part of the bird importations come from Germany direct. The trade is chiefly with outhern Germany. The most plausil le explanation of the promrequires patience and kindness, two attributes in which Germans, and especially German women, excel.

There is in New York a very large trade in canary birds, and during the period when a larger share of the nation's commerce was carried on in sailing ships than is the case now parrots and cockatoos were dealt in extensively, though nowadays they have somewhat gone out of vogue. Much care is necessary in the business of looking after birds, for they are subject to many ailments which must constantly be provided against, and without the exercise of great care the entire stock of the dealer might be swept away in a short time. The retail bird business does not require a very large capital. The loss of birds by illness is the chief danger to be provided against, not the indifference of purchasers, for these are never lacking in New York. The ordinary price of a in green yachting cloth; a broad green singing canary is from $1.50 to $2.75. The age attained by birds varies considerably—from 3 to 100 years—these being the maximum ages: Wren, 3 12; goldfinch, 15; partridge, 15; pheasant. 15; knk, 18; nightingale. 18; pigeon, 20; lunner, 23; canary, 24; crane. 24; peacock, 21; sparrow, 40; pehcan, 50; parrot, 60; crow, swan and eagle, 100 years. There is much less demand museums in the United States than in Europe, and one reason given in explanation of this is the fact that the museums of most European capitals are maintained at the public expense, without private contributions or the need of any, whereas in the United States the appropriations for menagerie and museum purposes are, generally speaking, inadequate and have to be eked out by private contributions. The annual appropriation for the menagerie in Central park, including necessary repairs to the buildings, is only $30,000. Many of the animals in the park, and some of the birds, are lent by private individuals. What is true of New York city in this regard is substantially true of the other big cities of the United States, and so the market for rare birds rests chiefly upon the purchases of private individuals.-New York Sun.

TOM MOORE'S FIRST SWEETHEART. She Was the Heroine of His "Mary, I Believed Thee True."

To the present generation the name of Mary Daff is known only by tradition and by Moore's poem, says Edward Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. Yet her career reads like a romance. It was in London that the was born, in 1794. Her christened name was Mary Ann Dyke. When she was searcely 15, she was known far and wide as one of the most beautiful girls of the neighborhood. Her poverty led her to adopt the stage as a profession, and she and her two sisters, also of great beauty, became danperson attracted immediate attention and admiration. Whouever the Dyke sisters appeared, the theater would be thronged. And Mary seemed to be the favorite of the trio.

It was the fashion of the time at Kilkenny for gentleman amateurs to give annual public performances for the benefit of the roor of the city, and it was on one of these occasions, when the assistance of professional ladies from Dublin was invoked, that Thomas Moore, the Irish poet, was introduced to Mary Dyke and armediately found himself passionately in love with her. It was in the play, "Fortune's Frolic." that Tom Moore personated Robin Roughhead and Mary Dyke Nancy.

The Irish poet became Mary Dyke': very shadow, and after awhile he poured forth his great love for her and offered her his hand and heart. But, for some reason, the beautiful Mary did not reciprocate the wealth of affection thus offered her, and she rejected him. It was this waich led Moore to return to his room, and in the midnight hour pen h., eclebrated love song, beginning "Mary, I is he ved thee true."

A PHILOSOPHER'S ATTIC. Quaint Combination of Greenery and Hennery Above the City. One of the queerest places in New York can be found in what looks, from the street, to be a funny little gable reofed house perched jauntily on one corner of the roof of the Windermere, on Fifty-seventh street. It is a conservatory and observatory in one, a miniature roof garden, the den of an attic philosopher. Henry S. Goodale, whose someinchee of Germans in this business is the | what celebrated daughters, Elaine and fact that, above all other qualities, it Dora, evidently got from him their poetic strain.

The attic is reached by a steep nautical flight of steps leading up through a small square hatchway straight into a wenderful greencry of bloom, a snuggery of comfort, likewise a hennery, consisting of one fine brown Leghorn fowl and a single fluffy, yellow chick, and a dovecer, where there are softly whirring wings. It is a chaining bit of Arcadia, high above the ceaseless roar and heartbear of a great city, which under its potent spell seems unreal and evanescent, like the undulating, elliptical rings of smoke that float past the "attic" windows. The attic is all windows, except the floor, reaf and the simple matched board dado. The little room is a symphony in green; the floor is carpered with dull green denim; the gabled roof is covered with burlaps of the same hue; a green wicker couch is cushioned and white striped awning shades the sanny sides of the httle house; all the carelessly strewn cushions, though of varying designs and materials, are of years; thrush, 10; robin, 12; blackbird, the same general line, and green figured denim drapcries on slender brass rods hang ready to exclude the whole outside world if it is desired.

But it is the window gardens that give the greatest charm to the place. Long, deep boxes of country earth and for birds for equithological displays in loam give sustenance to thick, tangled chains of spacy poals, old fashroned rese bushes and honeysuckle vines, clambering over wire network trellises, which metaphorically kill two birds with one stone by literally preserving the birds-that is, the hen and her chick-from aisa-ter and upholding the lacy green drapery of the vines. Of course the hen is not allowed the liberty of this garden in the air, though she keeps a vigilant and determined eye out for opportunities to marand outside her own domain, which is quite spacious enough to keep her hale and hearty. apparently centented with her lot and gracionsly disposed in the matter of eggs. Dame Atrica Heinica-which is the hen's classical name-evidently belongs to a five old Latin race of fowls, and her neighbors, the doves, are on the most amicable terms. - New York Press.

WANTED FRESH AIR.

The King of Anam Broke a Custom and Created a Panic.

Not long ago there was terrible excitement at the royal court of Anam. The king, Thanah-Tai, who was then 14 years old, was missing. Eriquette requires that the Anamese king shall never leave the royal grounds. He is a knightly prisoner. But the young potentate was not hard to find. Though he was a king, he was a boy, and it is natural for a boy, when he has some money in his pocket, to want to get out and spend it__

That was exactly what the king of Anam had done. Entirely alone he cers at the Dublin theater, where their had started on a "shopping" expedition singular grace, comeliness of face and through the streets of Hue. Of course no one knew him because he had never shown his face in public. He was simply a boy, like any other boy, and this was exactly what he wanted.

But he was treated with great respect by the shopkeepers, because he seemed to have plenty of money. Curiously enough, the thing which seemed to attract him most was a head shearing machine, or hair clipper, and when the frightened nobles of the court discovered him at last it was with this singular implement in his possession.

He had already begun an attempt to experiment with it on the heads of several small street boys, who were proving rebellions subjects, when the courtiers approached him, prostrating themselves upon the ground and making alarmed outcries.

The Ling no longer goes out shopping, but he retains his hair clipper as a sonvenir of a happy day of freedom with the street boys. - Pittsburg Dispatch.

Dated State Hill, Sept 17th, 1895

The Republican State Convention, yesterday, selected a representation of the American eagle, ballot box, pan chimneys, trees and fences. In the designating its columns of candidates on the official ballots.

At the Republican State conven tion this district's share of the socalled convention honors was distributed as follows: Vice-President, W. L Thornton; Committee on Resolutions and Platform, J. M. Dickey. Committee on Credentials, L F. Goodsell. B. B Odell, Jr, wee, of course, continued as member of the State Committee

Tae Republican State Convention did the work mapped out for it by Mr. Platt with neatness and dispatch The present State officers were renotioated in a bunch, the secretary of the convention having been instructed to cast one ballot for them all. The first ballot for Judge of the choice, but the second ballot gave Platt's candidate, Celora E. Martin, of Binghamton, a clear majority. The platform indulges in the usual laudation of Republican policy and Republican rule, and is rabid in denunciation of Democracy and its works. The most astonishing plank in the platform is that which claims for the Republicans credit for returning prosperly. Up to almost the It is Known day of the meeting of the convention it has been part of the Republican creed that there was no prosperity and could be none so long as the Democratic tariff was in force.

The only incident of real interest in the Republican State convention was Warner Miller's speech in favor of a "Sabbath observance" plank in the platform. It stampeded the convention and Platt, seeing that the drift was rgainst him, gave orders that Maler's fifteen word plank should be added to the platform. It is: "We favor the maintenance of the Sunday law in the interest of labor and morality." Under ordinary conditions t' would pass for a glittering get atty, but at this time it commit e party definitely to Roosevelt's policy of rigid enforcemer t of the Sunday excise laws. The effect of the declaration is problematical. It may attract some voters whether for good or ill it is a bold stand to take and saves the "party of great moral ideas" from the charge of cowardice.

The Interlaken Company is about to spend $1 000,000 in the erection of a cotton mill at Arkwright, R. I. Surely that concern has no fears for the future of cotton manufacturing under Democratic tariff.

The convention to nominate candidates for Supreme Court Justices in this, the Second District, will be held in the Brooklyn Court House, Oct. 21d. The call for the convention appears at the head of our columns.

Ten of Orange county's delegates to the Republican State convention votes for Jesse Johnson, of Brooklyr, for Judge of the Court of Ap. peals, and three for Celora E. Martin. This looks as if the dicker with Kirgs county, in the interest of Col. Dickey as a candidate for the Supreme Court nomination, which was said to be pending, had been carried through.

The attempt of Ohio Republicans to commit their party to the tariff as the leading issue in next year's campaign means that they are ready to upset industrial and commercial conditions for the sake of advancing McKinley's ambitions. Ohio's favorite son is a Presidential impossibility unless the tariff issue is forced to the Wholesale prices of coal were marked up twenty-five cents a ton in New York, yesterday. The publication of Mr. Iselin's letters to Lord Dunraven offering to resail the protested race and the third race or to wipe out the entire series, shows him to have been a true sportsman, anxious to have the fier. merits of the Deferder and Valkyrie determined by actual contests, Dunraven's quibbling refusals to accept any proposition that would bring the rachts together confirms the belief that the first race satisfied him of the Defender's superiority and that he was glad of a pretext for not meetng her again.

Mort Poor "Tom" Benton Fell Foul of England's Future King.

Tom Benton occupied for many years -in fact, until his death-a responsible position in the household of Queen Victoria. Benton, who was of humble birth, was but a lad at Brighton when his parents died within a few months of each other. It was shortly after these events when the queen's attention was called to the young boy under rather peculiar circumstances.

One day, while Benten was gathering shells on the beach at Erighton to make pincushions, which he sold to the summer visitors, a young boy, nicely dressed and about his own age, appeared upon the scene and scattered, with a vigorous kick, the accumulated shells. Benton gathered up his treasures, and placing them again in a pile warned the intruder that if he repeated the trick he would give him a "good licking."

The kick was repeated with even more vigor than before, and the shells were sent flying in every direction. True to his word, the "poor boy" soundly thrashed the stranger. It was a close contest at first, as the lads were quite evenly matched, but the more fully developed strength of Denton finally brought him of victorious.

Just as the melce was over a gentleman and lady approached, and the former said: "You did quite right, young man. We have seen the whole transaction. This boy is our son, but he was the aggressor and received the thrashing he well merited." A number of questions were asked the lad as to himself and his family. The replies told the boy's life, how the death of his parents had brought poverty to himself and his brothers and sisters.

"This is the queen," said the gentleman, who was none other than Prince Albert, "and the young man to whom you administered such a merited whipping is the Prince of Wales." Turning to the prince, he continued: "You must send his young man to school and pay for his tuition out of your own pocket money That cannot add to your punishment, but can benefit this poor lad with whom you picked such an uncalled for quarrel."

Thus it was that Tom Benton met the queen of England. He was sent to a school about midway between Portland and Dover. After completing his studies there he was taken into her majesty's service and remained there his entire life. Between Benron and the Prince of Wales there was a strong bond of friendship, such as could exist between true manly men.-New York Herald.

DEAR OLD LADY.

She Was Going to "Albert's" and Reached There Safely.

An old woman wearing a pair of gold oyeglasses was a passenger on one of the trains from Buffalo to New York. She had come through from the west, and the nervous way in which she gathered her bundles around her and the number of questions she asked all showed that she was not accustomed to traveling. When the trainboy came through with his assortment of books, she confided to him the facts that she was going to New York to see her son and that she had not seen him for over a year. She grew talkative and said:

"My son 2 lbert's a great preacher. He is a Methodist, and I am a Methodist. I taught him when he was a little bit of a boy what was right and what was wreng. He hasn't been back to see me for over a year. I live way out in Missouri, and he couldn't get away this year, but he wanted to see me, and he sent for me to come on. He preaches in a big church there, and he has got a fine family growing up''—

So she prattled on. The trainboy listened to her attentively and succeeded in selling her a copy of "The Quick or the Dead?" solemnly assuring her that it was a Methodist religious book. When he left her, she began to read it, calmly at first, then nervously, until she grew tired. Then she began to nod, and finally the book slipped to the floor. The gray har reposed on the cushion of the palace car seat, and its owner dozed

'Vehers are you going, mother?" "To Albert ... was the quick reply as the eyer behind the glasse, opened, and the old woman looked around her for a moment, still meable to tell where she was. The motherly re-ponse touch-6d a sympathetic chord in the conductor's heart, and he carefully looked after her until the end of the trip and saw her rush into Albert's arms half laughing, half crying. - New York

"Now open the gate and let ber in,
And fling it wide.

For she hath been cleansed from stain of sin,"
St. Peter cried. And the angels all were silent. "Though I am cleansed from stain of sin,"

THE SELF EXILED.

She answered low. "I came not hither to enter in, Nor may I go." And the angels all were silent.

"But I may not enter there," she said; "For I must go

Across the gulf where the guilty dead Lac in their woe. And the angels all were silent.

If I enter heaven, I may not speak My soul's desire For them that are lying distraught and weak In Saming fire."

And the angels all were stient. "Should I be mearer Christ," she said, "By pitying less The sinful living or worful dead In their helplessness?"

And the argels all were silent. "Should I be liker Christ were I

To love no more
The loved, who in their anguish lie
Ontside the door?" And the angels all were silent. Should I be liker, nearer him, Forgetting this— Singing all day with the scraphim In selfish bliss?" And the angels all were silent. -New York Tribune.

LONDON SQUARES.

Some of the Quaint Breathing Spots In the English Metropolis.

Some of these are quaint and charming enough, being mostly laid out in the Dutch fashion. Golden square, near Regent street; Red Lion and Queen squares, in Bloomsbury, are capital specimens. The first, though so close to Regent street, might be a dozen miles away. There is a welcome unkemptness; the grass is rank and wild; there are old trees ranged round its border in a symmetrical way. The bouses round are picturesque, because each is distinct. It is given over to commission agents, merchants and trade generally, yet within but a few years it was a place of genteel residence, like a usual square, and we find the late Cardinal Wiseman living in a substantial mansion here. Dickens, it will be remembered, placed Ralph Nickleby's house here, which is described on the occasion of the party to Sir Frederick and Sir Mulberry as having almost palatial apartments and the richest furniture. As we wander round, we are struck with the melancholy tone of the inclosure, yet everything seems brisk enough, but it belongs to the old

The square itself is very attractive and original, with a sort of Dutch or foreign air. We note the fine trees which shelter it all round in symmetrical lines and the Roman warrior sort of statue in the center, arrayed in full armor and representing George II. The grass and walks are laid out with a certain free and easy carelessness that is very acceptable and contrasts with the trim, shaven, soulless treatment of mad ern squares. Altogether a visit to Gold en square will interest.

Berkeley square every one knows Yet it has an extraordinary sympathetic attraction from its grass and fine shad ing old trees. No one, we may be sure, has noted that these leafy patriarchs seem to range in two rows down the middle, like an avenue. The fact is, it was the demesne of the lawn in front of the old Berkeley House, which stood at the back of Devonshire House. The mansious round are very fine, and the iron work, railings, etc., are all admired and to be admired. There are some queer things to be told about squares, for instance, that there was a General Strode who had a mania for setting up statues in squares at his own expense. We have seen equestrian statues in Leicester square propped up with a broomstick, with portions broken away. --- Gentleman's Magazine.

THE ORANGE COUNTY FAIR.

Opened in Newburgh, Yesterday-A Large, Complete, Varied and Interesting Exhibition.

The fifty-fif h annual fair of the Orange County Agricultural Society, which opened in Newburgh, yesterday, is in many respects the most varied and interesting exhibition already been made. Comtemplated ever given by the society.

buildings, many booths and thirty tents, covering an area of fully three acree.

Newburgh merchants and business men are giving the fair the heartlest kind of support and their exhibits one; an addition to Pavilion 2, back are among the m st interesting features. The New York Furniture Company, of which Mr. C. E. Crawford, of this city, is the principal owner, makes a very large and fine room on the first hall, and on the exhibit.

The display of agricultural produets is not up to that of some former years, but the show of fruits is exceptionally fine.

The poultry tent is full of fine birds. There are 324 dogs, some of them of very high degree, on exhition. The cat show is a novel and interesting feature. The entries of cattle are nothing like as large as at some former fairs and horses are not as conspicuous a feature of the exhibit as at fairs held in the central part of the county. The beautiful white Arab stallion Shahwan, said to be the most beautiful horse in this county, if not in the world, which has Just been imported by Mr. J. A. P. Ramsdell, of Newburgh, will be on exhibition, to-day.

The Register's baby show, for which 148 entries have been made, is a new feature that will certainly interest the ladies. The baby carriage parade will take place, this after-

The attendance yesterday was not large, but in spite of the unfavorable weather a very large crowd is on the grounds, this afternoon.

FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

Michard Schoonmaker Ellied at Back Lake, Sullivan County.

Richard Schoonmaker, of New York, was killed at Black Lake. Sullivan county, Ifonday morning, by the accidental discharge of his gun. He came from the city, Saturday, to visit his brother, Smith Schoonmaker, and early Monday morning he, with his brother and several others, started out for a day's hunt. In climbing over a log, the gun was discharged, the whole load lodging in his abdomen and killing him instantly.

HE PREFERS DRESSES.

A Recklaud County Man Who Thinks

Semale Attire Good Egough for Rim. Ferdinand Helmke, of Ocange. burg, Rockland county, is twenty years of age, bright and intelligent, yet he declines to wear the garments adapted to his sex. Instead he persists in wearing drawers, skirts and dresses. He works on and about the farm, but never permits any one to get close enough to talk to him, apparently fearful that the subject of his strange attire will be the theme touched upon. The dresses he wears are about to the knees in length. He is a good ball player, but gave up the aport because the other members of his nine begged him to wear trousers constructed as their own were. He is a member of a church, but attends only at night when there are but few persons present. The women in the surrounding country call the young man "Hannah" when referring to him, though none dare apply this when addressing him. The boys have long called him "Skirts."

Many Improvements to he Made in the Near Future.

From the Cong, omerate

Among the improvements to be made in the immediate future are an addition to the present boiler house, for which an allotment of $6,000 has improvements include a new store There are on the grounds a dozen room, 120x30, rehind the boiler house, across Dillon Drive; a shop, to be extended in the rear of Amusement Hall; additions to the laundry, including a new building, 50 feet equare, to the west of the precent of the billiard room, to extend up the full length of the building; this will contain a natatorium, or swimming tank, in the basement, a smoking upper floors it will furnish convenient water closets and bath rooms; an allotment has also been made for a new steam pump and boiler, and for needed machinery for the laundry. The Kirker-Bender fire escape is another improvement, the introduction of which here is in contemplation. We have been permitted to see a leter from Superintendent Perry, of the Central Kentucky Asylum for the Insane, where this escape has been introduced, to Dr. Talcott, in which it is stated that sixty-eight patients have been sent through it in one minute during fire drill, and that the regular fire drill is a source of no small amusement to the patients.

Or. Talcott's Twenty Years of Insane

Asylum Management, The Conglomerate notes the interesting fact that twenty years ago last Filday, Dr. Talcott entered on his life's work of asylum management as Chief of Staff of the Ward's I-land Hosoital. It was a small institution when he took charge of it but when he left it, May 1, 1877, to become superintendent of the Middletown Asylum there were nearly 700 patients in its wards. When Dr. Talcott came to Mildletown the Hospital had over 100 ratient ; now there are over 1,100. At that time the Administrative Building was the only one in use, though one of the pavilions was nearing completion.

James C. Coleman, of Goshen, was introduced to Presbytery, and after examination and the recommendation of his pastor, taken under Presbytery's care as a candidate for the minis ry. He is in his second year at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Part of the afternoon session of Tuesday was a conference, the elders meeting by themselves and uniting in counsel and prayer on their work, which proved a very profitable meeting to them. At the same time the cierical members considered "How to make our presbyterial meetings more effective, spiritually, to the church where it is held, and to the churches of the P.esbytery."

HEROIC WOMEN.

Their Struggle Against a Common and Merciless Enemy.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS]

Woman's heroism is not evinced by fearlessness or enterprisein tima of danger, but her courage and forutule are unquestionable in time of suffering. Think of the woman who smiles and tries to make those around her cheerful, while she is racked with the excruciating tortures of womb trouble.

Think of one who, day by day, begs her physician to help her, while the torture of tortures could not add to her misery.

Does she yield? No! She endures her agonies, and meets her friends with cheerfulness.

This is woman's heroism, and few men realize how prevalent they are. Physicians rarely render relief in such cases. Aftertwenty years of success, with ever-increasing popularity, Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compount is, to-day, woman's only sure and safe refuge from indammation, niceration, failing an I displacement of the womb, ovarian trouble, leucorrhea, painful and suppressed menstructions, kidney trouble, nervous prostration, and all manner of distressing and life-sapping female diseases.

"O my sisters, believe what is told you of this wonderful medicine! Before I took it I had falling of the womb and leurorthea. My womb came down so badly I could not walk across the floor; the pain was excruciating; now all is so changed, and I am so happy. Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved me from a life of misery. Don't, don't suffer, I say, when a cure is so easily obtained." — Mrs. William Hows, 163 Autoin Street, Detroit, Mich.

A CHILDREN'S REMEDY.

Mother Gray, a New York Nurse, Gives Middletown Mothers the Benefit of Her Experience.

There is a remedy for chiliren's ordinary lile, known at the drug stores as Mother Gray's Sweet Worm Powders, which is very popu'ar among Middletowa mothers who have used this medicine for the past four seasons. M ther Gray, for many years a nurse in the Children's Home in New York, the originator of these powders, devoted the best years of her life to treating the many children's ailments which so often came to her notice in her capacity as a nurse. The result of her experience she has given to the world in her Mother Gray's Sweet Worm Powders. These powders are now placed in all the Middletown drug stores, and mothers everywhere use and praise them and tell other mothers about them. They cure feverishness, diarrhoea, bad stomach, headaches and all bowel troubles. They cleanse the stomach and bowels and if worms exist positively destroy them, and by cleansing the system do the child good in any event. A very interesting letter was read a 25 cent box of Mother Gray's Sweet from Rev. Geo. A. Ford, one of the members, and a missionary in Syria. your family. They are pleasant to take and harmless as milk. A trial package will be sent free for trial to any mother who will address Allen S. Olmeted, Le Roy, N. Y.
